

Martyn Eustace of Two Sides writes:

Covid-19 has changed all our lives and, for Two Sides, we have adapted our communications accordingly. The environment may not be front of mind at the moment, yet the environment, and all the issues of sustainability that were important a few months ago, will re-emerge and Two Sides' role, to promote the sustainability of our industry, will be as necessary as ever. Many commercial printers and publishers are suffering terribly in this crisis but there is a healthy packaging print and production sector which is providing an essential service. Our industry will need time to recover.

In the meantime, and recognising that our members and their families are looking for ways to occupy children at home, Two Sides has developed materials to download and enjoy. Encouraging creativity and fun - on paper.

Feel free to access Love Paper Creations here. <https://lovepaper.org/creations/>

Best wishes and stay safe from the Two Sides team.